This is a public service announcement from Tohono O'odham Community College.

TOCC is on spring break through March 27, 2020. Spring semester classes will resume Monday, March 30th. All courses will be online. Students will be contacted by instructors or college personnel with details. Everyone is encouraged to check out TOCC's posts on Facebook, too. Students needing assistance for their online classes should reach out to Dean Naomi Tom at ntom@tocc.edu.

TOCC employees are working from home as much as possible, though some are on campus carrying out essential functions.

At this time, the College Library is scheduled to be available for students from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday starting on March 30th. This will be reviewed on a regular basis and updates provided.

The College is practicing social distancing with individuals keeping six feet apart from each other.

Updates about the college can be found on the Tohono O'odham Community College website home page at tocc.edu.

TOCC wishes you all good health and strength as we go forward together in these difficult times.
